

<http://www.KSCBNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=1240>

Researchers Eye Panhandle Switchgrass

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP) - Researchers in the Oklahoma Panhandle are trying to figure out if making ethanol from switchgrass is cost effective. Researchers are looking at 1,000 acres of the tall, thin plant in an effort to determine whether small-scale experiments of using switchgrass to make ethanol can be duplicated on a large scale.

C "-//W3C//DTD XHTML 1.0 Transitional//EN" "DTD/xhtml1-transitional.dtd"> link rel="stylesheet" href="kscb.css" type=" </body> </html>