

<http://www.KSCBNews.net/news/index.cfm?nk=15014>

Oklahoma Tax Holiday Is This Weekend

Thousands of Oklahomans are expected to crowd retail stores and shopping malls during Oklahoma's three-day back-to-school sales-tax holiday. The holiday begins Friday and ends Sunday at midnight. It exempts from state and local taxes any article of clothing or footwear with a sales price of less than $100. The sales-tax holiday has been in effect since 2007 and is similar to events in more than a dozen other states. The Oklahoma Tax Commission says Oklahoma shoppers saved almost $7 million in sales taxes during last year's holiday weekend.

Associated Press