Kansans of African Descent On Display At SCCC

The traveling exhibit "Kansans of African Descent: Selected Portraits" will be on display at the Seward County Community College/Area Technical School Library throughout February.

African Americans have played important roles in the history of Kansas.

Well-known people who have called Kansas home are featured in this exhibit of historic and contemporary photographs.

Individuals featured in the display include Benjamin "Pap" Singleton; who was instrumental in bringing many African American immigrants to Kansas; Julie Lee, who ran a grocery business in Nicodemus in 1877; and Lynette Woodard, first woman member of the world-famous Harlem Globetrotters.
