Lady Aggie is Heartland's Player of the Week
Sarah Johnson Named Heartland Conference Player of the Week

Submitted by OPSU Sports Information on 01/13/2014

Goodwell, Okla.-Senior point guard Sarah Johnson of the Oklahoma Panhandle State University women's basketball team has been named Player of the Week by the Heartland Conference for Jan. 6-12.

Originally from Muleshoe, Texas, Johnson transferred to OPSU from Pratt Community College after her sophomore year and started for the Aggies in the 2012-2013 seasons. Johnson has had a great impact on the Aggie basketball team and is an outstanding representative of OPSU and Aggie Athletics.

Johnson had back-to-back career-high games this week scoring over 30 points in each of the two conference games and leading the Aggies to their first win of the season. Johnson played physical basketball and contributed a total of four rebounds, seven assists, one block, and two steals for the week. She played almost a full 40 minutes against Rogers State after putting in 30 minutes against UA Fort Smith. For the week, Johnson averaged 34.5 points, two rebounds, and 3.5 assists per game.

The coaching staff is extremely proud of Johnson's achievements. Hard-work on the court and a positive attitude are the keys to success for any athlete, and Johnson has excelled at both.

to Sarah for her outstanding contributions to Aggie athletics!
