Former Bee Jay Hits for the Cycle and Joins History

Former Liberal Bee Jay Ian Kinsler who is now a member of the Texas Rangers hit for the cycle on Wednesday night. Not only did Kinsler hit for the cycle, but he also had six hits. Kinsler joins Rondell White and Bobby Veach as the only players to ever have a six hit cycle in Major League History. White accomplished it with the Expos back in 1995, and Veach had his with the Tigers in 1920. Kinsler's Rangers won the game 19-6 over the Baltimore Orioles. Kinsler was a member of the Liberal Bee Jays National Championship team in 2000.
