Wind Blows Semi Trailer Over in Haskell County KANSAS WEATHER

NEW: Heavy winds hit parts of Kansas

DODGE CITY, Kan. (AP) - Storms with heavy winds have hit southern Kansas, blowing a semi trailer off a highway in Haskell County and damaging sheds in Ford County.

The National Weather Service in Dodge City says a funnel cloud briefly touched down south of Dodge City yesterday. No injuries were reported.

Meteorologist Michael Scott says the semi trailer was blown over at the intersection of a highway in Haskell County south of Plymell.

There were severe thunderstorm warnings for Ochiltree and Beaver Counties as well yesterday afternoon.

The National Weather Service in Wichita reported that a mobile home lost half of its roof east of Leon in Butler County. No injuries were reported.
